ABOUT BILLINGS

Billings is the largest city in the State of Montana, and the county seat of Yellowstone County. Located in the south-central portion of the state, the 2022 Census estimates the population of Billings at just over 119,000 people.

The climate in Billings is semi-arid, with hot summers and cold, dry winters. In the summer, the temperature can rise to over 100 degrees; while the winters can bring temperatures below zero. The average snowfall is 22 inches a year; however, the winter of 2017/2018 brought a record year's snowfall of 104 inches. Interviewing with the Billings Police Department does not guarantee a conditional offer of employment.

Conditional Offer of Employment: As openings become available, qualified applicants will be given a conditional offer of employment and move to the background phase of the process. Applicants must successfully complete the following:

- Background Investigation
- Psychological Evaluation
- Hiring Panel
- Medical Examination
- Drug Screening

Failure to successfully complete any one of these conditions will result in the immediate withdrawal of the offer of employment.

Probationary Police Officer: Upon meeting the requirements for the conditional offer of employment an applicant will be confirmed as a probationary police officer. At this point, the officer must complete the following:

- Out of state applicants possessing a Basic P.O.S.T. certificate, other than Montana, must have been employed as a police officer for a minimum of one year to transfer their P.O.S.T. certifications. Officers will be required to successfully complete the Montana legal equivalency procedure within one (1) year of hire date.

- The Billings Police Department requires that all new officers complete the Montana Law Enforcement Academy (or equivalent) prior to beginning our Field Training program. The field training of new officers is a vital supplement to the classroom training received at the police academy. Field training also serves to confirm the knowledge and abilities of those new officers who have previous police experience. This 15-week program is a highly structured and closely supervised process and must be satisfactorily completed by all new officers prior to their patrol assignment.

Before being confirmed as a full time permanent employee, a new officer must complete a 12-month probationary period. During this probationary period, it is the policy of the Billings Police Department that a new hire may be terminated at any time without cause.

Normal time frame from date applications are taken to hired with the Billings Police Department is in the range of 18 weeks.
