From the Desk of Howard Evans, RNTF Chair

Neighbors,

I have previously asked that you participate in the West Billings Neighborhood Plan survey before April 30th at the following website:

<https://sandersonstewart.com/projects/west-billings-plan/west-billings-plan-issues/>

West End development will affect traffic on our two arterial roads, Rimrock Road and MT Hwy 3. If you want to do something to control the traffic situations along your roadways, you need to make your voice heard in all venues available. If you have not taken the survey, a 5 minute process, please do so and also encourage your neighbors to participate in the survey.

As another reminder, the All City Task Force is sponsoring An Evening with Dr. Erwin Garcia, Superintendent Billings Public Schools, on Tuesday, April 23, 5:30 pm, in the Community Room, Billings Public Library.

Dr. Garcia has facts and some alarming data to share in developing the School Safety Levy and, in my opinion, your time will be well-spent. Serious consideration should be given this Levy as it affects the whole Billings Community, not just the schools.

The RNTF Board met with Mac Fogelsong, City Engineer, to learn of developments and processes for change along Rimrock Road. Mac is fully aware of residents' traffic and pedestrian concerns but needs to work within the parameters established by government agencies at all levels. Improvements to transportation infrastructure are based on collected data and data generated through current studies, the human element is not quantifiable and, therefore, not considered in decision making. Residents play a role in triggering the process by elevating the concern level enough to generate a study. Here is a link to a summary of our discussion with Mac: Board Meeting with Mac Fogelsong

Your Board is planning the next meeting, May 15th to include more information on ways to protect your person and property. The presenter will be a member of Billings Police Department, possibly Sgt. Stovall.

I would like to thank all the members who donated peanut butter, jelly or candy for our less fortunate residents. Your donations were acknowledged and appreciated by Family Services and the Southside Task Force and, I'm sure, by the recipients. I would also like to thank Moser Construction for our drawing prizes. We are still looking for contributors.

Sincerely,

Howard Evans, RNTF Chair

Recreational Vehicle Setbacks

If you store an RV on your property, there are required setbacks. Here are basic guidelines:

- Storing recreational vehicles in your rear yard is allowed and they can be stored on any type of surface.
- They are allowed on front or side yards if there’s no access to rear yard. They must be on asphalt or concrete.

Here are the setback requirements in any yard:

- Three feet from neighboring property lines.
- Five feet from any door, window, or ventilation access to dwelling or accessory building.
- Eight feet from street or sidewalk, whichever is closer.

RVs you store on your property must be registered & operable, ready to move at a moment's notice. RVs include snowmobiles, boats, campers, ATVs, off-road motorcycles, sport/utility trailers, and RVs. Setbacks are in place for fire safety reasons, which is why they need to stay within these parameters. For more info, refer to Billings Municipal Code 27-1307(A).

PEDESTRIAN, BICYCLE & TRAFFIC SAFETY:

At our March meeting, Council Member Ed Gulick shared the following about transportation planning:

“At the Mar. 15 City Council & Staff Retreat, Council agreed with our Public Works director’s suggestion to create a Transportation Master Plan. City Staff needs clear direction from Council on what our strategy will be going forward in addressing the opportunities & challenges of growth.

For the past half century, Billings has increasingly built out a hierarchical street network along with low density development that is more dependent on vehicular modes. This tends to result in greater traffic congestion & higher transportation infrastructure costs relative to the amount of tax base that it serves. This further burdens property taxpayers. Additionally, the design of these roads tends to privilege speed at the expense of safety, higher infrastructure costs, & the economic productivity of adjacent properties.

The Master Plan will consider other strategies alongside current strategies to meet the community’s transportation needs, and, ultimately, the council, with the public’s input, will select the strategy so that staff have clear direction.”

Your task force will bring you more info on this Transportation Master Plan as soon as more is known. Thank you Council Member Gulick for the update.

Brought to you by Anastasia Edwards
with Big Sky Quantum SHIELD

Neighbors - in March, our guest speaker from the FBI focused on Cyber Security.

For this month's newsletter, Anastasia provides tips building on 2 of his topics:

AI-generated Voice fraud

YOU'RE GOING TO WANT TO WATCH THIS!

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=BigtRxmkPNw>

They clone voices now...check out this scam call using AI cloned voice.

I would text the person while I'm on the phone and ask them if it's them. I'd expect them to text back "hey what's up!?" Or some response.

BEST PRACTICE:

establish code words with your family.

This is very serious
Stay Vigilant

Locking up your Social Media

Overall Advice for any social media:

-Regularly review your privacy settings on all platforms to ensure they remain aligned with your desired level of privacy.

-Be mindful of the info you share in posts, even with customized settings, to maintain digital safety.

Anastasia has prepared an easy to follow guide on how to modify your settings on some of the common social platforms.

We're attaching her document to the email that's bringing you this newsletter.

MONTHLY DRUG CORNER:

Note - Medical & recreational marijuana are legal for adults in Montana.

The following is a composite synopsis of facts from a National Geographic article titled “Do you smoke weed recreationally? Here's what experts want you to know.” By Meryl Davids Landau, March 22, 2024

This article is written with the intent to inform and is in no way intended to advocate or judge. Medical cannabis has several positive uses and amounts are controlled by dosage and usage. Medical use should not be compared with recreational use.

Today’s cannabis strains are not your grandma’s weed—and they may be impacting your mental health, heart health, and more. Today’s products are much more potent and come in so many different formulations, that it’s very different from those in the sixties and even the nineties.

The risk from cannabis for substance-abuse psychosis where a person has delusions or paranoia, hears voices, and otherwise temporarily loses touch with reality is higher even than from cocaine. Up to a third of people who experience substance-abuse psychosis go on to develop the more permanent condition of schizophrenia.

Teenage brains are going through a time of maturity, so when substances are put in the brain, they have more of an influence than they do on adult brains. Using adolescents are 37 % more likely than using adults to develop depression. Rates of suicide are also higher with marijuana using teens. People younger than 25 should avoid cannabis altogether,

People who use the drug regularly have a higher risk for heart attack, stroke, and other heart disease. Heart attack rates are 25 percent higher than the norm while stroke increased 42 percent researchers found.

Pregnant women who use cannabis regularly are more likely to have preterm births and dangerously small babies.

Many people perceive cannabis to be safer than alcohol, but one in five cannabis users develops an addiction to the drug.
